SUFFRAGE BILL PASSES SENATE

Stout Measure Giving Women Equal Rights
With Men Is Sent To The Assembly.

COUNTY OPTION BILL UP WEDNESDAY

Important Measure Of Whole Session Comes Before The Senate Tomorrow For Consideration--
Chances Of Passage.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., March 30.—If the assembly should by any chance pass the Stout measure which gives women the right of suffrage it will be up to Governor Davidson to either sign or veto the bill.

Up to Assembly.
To the surprise of many who are closely watching legislation the Stout bill which grants women suffrage and privilege to vote on all questions the same as men passed the senate this morning and will be sent to the assembly for their approval or rejection.

Have Partial Rights.
While the Stout measure gives women the full right to vote on all questions there is a referendum provision which gives the voters of the state the right to vote on the question at the next general election in 1910. At present women only have the right to vote for school commissioners.

County Option Up.
Tomorrow the senate will consider the county option proposition. This measure appears to be possible of passage through this house and if it does powerful influences will be used to force it through the house. At present, however, prospects are that it will be killed in the house.

Favor Referendum.
However, there is some talk of passage with a referendum attached to it which would bring it directly before the people and make it a campaign issue for the next state fight. This measure with favor in the lower house by men even opposed to the measure as it now stands.

"As Loaves of Bread."
C. J. Broughton of Fond du Lac was on the stand this morning before the primary probe and testified that the Stephenson men in his city furnished rolls of money as "loaves of bread." The assembly voted today not to hold any session on Good Friday.

Milwaukee Case.
The Milwaukee school board moved in the supreme court today for a preliminary writ of mandamus to compel Mayor Ross and the common council to issue $250,000 school bonds, as required by law. The council is willing but Ross has twice vetoed the bond ordinance.

Cleary's Plans.
Assemblyman M. J. Cleary, lower house chairman of the joint steering committee, still holds to the belief that it will be possible for the legislature to adjourn by the middle of May. He has received reports from all committees excepting agricultural, judiciary and cities and an examination

CRAZY SNAKE RIGHTS TO DEFEND HIMSELF

Indian Wounded Offers to Surrender
—His Action Defended by Gov.
—Government Authorities.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Guthrie, Okla., March 30.—Adjutant General Canton said this morning that reports from three towns in the district where Crazy Snake and his followers are being pursued by soldiers showed everything quiet and no trouble occurred last night. Gen. Canton said it was his opinion that the situation had been greatly exaggerated by some newspaper writers, and that a small sized riot had been worked off on the public as an Indian war, but two persons, he stated, had been killed since the trouble began. Crazy Snake has sent word to the military officers this morning he wanted to surrender.

From Muskogee.
Muskogee, Okla., March 30.—A special dispatch this afternoon says Crazy Snake sent a message to Commander Hoffmann from the mountains saying he had been shot in the leg and crippled, and will surrender to Sheriff O'Don, whose son was killed in the south fight.

No Indians were involved in the original trouble that resulted in the militia being called out and Crazy Snake had a right to defend his home from the attack of irresponsible persons and even officers not authorized to arrest him, according to the finding of a special attorney and Indian Agent Kelley after several hours' investigation at Henryetta today.

TEMPERANCE WORK IN THE TOWN OF ROCK

Father Ward of Beloit Spoke Last Evening at Brinkman's Hall on Option.

In a stirring address last evening, to a crowd which tested the seating capacity of Brinkman's hall at Afton, Rev. Father M. J. Ward gave some fifty-seven or more varieties of reasons why he had for hating the saloon. He had no hatred in his heart, he said, for any man, not even the saloonkeeper, but he did hate the saloon business.

He had been for thirty-four years looking for a reason for the existence of the saloon, but had been unable to find a man or woman who could tell him what good purpose it served. But it did serve an evil purpose. It is the home of all evil, racially and socially, and the gathering place of toughs, bums and thieves and prostitutes.

It is an unprincipled man, now-days, as a rule, who runs a saloon. The business is such that a man can not conduct it successfully and be an honest man. The business is so organized that the saloonkeeper must resort to all sorts of disreputable practices to make it yield a paying income.

Most of the saloons are owned by the brewers. Of the thirty-four saloons in Beloit, not more than two are owned by the men who run them. They are owned by the brewers, who put in irresponsible bottle washers behind the bar to pass out the booze.

The business is the same all over the state, and we are a smart lot of people paying tribute to the Pabst, the Schlitz, the Heileman, the Anheuser and the Budweisers.

The business is conducted behind screens, where the respectable man can slip in and drink without anyone knowing about it. So that the boy can go in and take his first drink without its being known. It maintains back rooms where the young girl is taken by some unprincipled male companion and taught to drink.

When started on the road to ruin, the innocent girl walks into the wine room, who takes the first step to an utter degradation from which there is no reform.

The saloon strikes at the family, the real unit of our social system. It takes the father away from the home. It takes the young man away from the influence of home life, and breaks up the family circle.

NEW IDEAS BROUGHT INTO PRIMARY LAW

Six o'clock club at Madison listens to plans for rearrangement of present laws.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., March 30.—A new idea in political machinery was given out here last night by Professor Ernst C. Meyer of the department of political science in the university.

He proposed to resolve all the evils, or nearly all, of the present primary and election system by a law providing for the holding of the primary and election on the same day, the voter to perform his functions as party man, in expressing his choice for party nominees, and as citizen, in expressing his choice for incumbents of offices to be filled, at one and the same time, by one act, by making one ballot.

Speaking last night at the monthly dinner of the Six o'clock club, an organization similar to the Twilight club of Janesville, Professor Meyer elaborated his system for the first time in English. He had described it in a work in the German language, but outside of a few articles in this proposal had not been made in this country.

He would provide by his law that a voter upon exercising his function as a party man, for nominees on his party ticket, but at the same time vote for the winner of the nomination. This would be accomplished by a system of transferring to the nominee of the party all the votes cast for the defeated candidates for the party.

That is, the question of nomination would be determined by relative strength of all one party, and a nomination within a party would be the question of election would be determined by comparison of the number of votes cast on one party ticket for one position with the votes cast for other party tickets for the same position. A voter, moreover, could be a member of one party with respect to one office and with respect to another position, but in each case the voter's vote goes to the nominee of the party among whose candidates that party among whose candidates he has chosen a nominee.

Professor Meyer believed this system will correct many of the evils of the present system, among them:

It will tend to maintain party integrity and the party loyalty of the voter.

It will not involve "straight ticket" voting.

It will be economical of time and money, saving the voter's time by eliminating one of the two present voting days, and saving money for the candidates, and the state by accomplishing the whole nominating and electing function on a single day, by a single ballot.

It will bring out the full party strength, minimize trading, debauchery, one party's primary by the entrance of voters of a non-party-concerned party into the primaries, of the party in which exist contests for nominations.

It permits of the use of a "second choice" system of primary voting if such a system is deemed wise.

While this new scheme is somewhat complicated, its explanation was listened to with great interest by a large number of legislators who were present.

SPANISH CLAIMANT IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Don Carlos, Duke of Madrid and Pretender to Throne Suffers With Tumor of the Stomach.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Paris, March 30.—Don Carlos, Duke of Madrid, the claimant to the Spanish throne, was sixty-one years old today but there was no observance of the anniversary for the reason that Don Carlos is seriously ill at his home in Milan. He has long been suffering with a tumor of the stomach and no help out for his recovery.

Don Carlos was born at Llanes, March 29, 1848. He is a grandnephew of Ferdinand VII. of Spain, and claims the throne of Spain on the ground that Isabelle, daughter of Ferdinand VII. and Christina, mother of Alfonso XII., was, owing to the Sallé law, barred from the succession to the throne.

Following the example of his grandfather, Charles V., and his uncle, Charles VI., who fought for what they considered their rights for years, Don Carlos took up arms in 1872 and, as Charles VII., reigned over the greater part of northern Spain until 1875, when being nearly surrounded by the forces of Alfonso XII., who recently had been proclaimed king at Madrid, he retired into France.

As the undisputed senior male heir of the house of Bourbon, Don Carlos of France in the event of a restoration of the monarchy, but he has never put forward that claim, though often urged by the French royalists to do so.

FOUR AFRICAN STATES UNITE

TRANSVAAL AND NEIGHBORS VOTE ON CONSTITUTION.

FOR A NEW COMMONWEALTH

Government Will be Strongly Centralized and Modeled on the Canadian Plan.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
London, March 30.—The new South African Commonwealth is soon to become an accomplished fact. Today, according to cable dispatches from Cape Town, the parliaments of Cape Colony, the Transvaal, Natal and the Orange River Colony will take action on the constitution recently formulated by a special body of representatives.

Next June the union convention again will meet to put the finishing touches to the plan of government, which then will be brought in London for imperial approval and for the King's signature.

Indications are that the new government will be strongly centralized. It will follow the Canadian rather than the American or Australian plan in reserving all power, not especially delegated to the provinces. Practically all the interests and affairs of the provinces are placed in the hands of a central parliament, the purely local and administrative business of each province only being in the hands of a provincial council, which also is subject finally to the authority of the central parliament.

This plan is a radical departure from the methods of the home country and of the other colonial federations and was decided upon evidently with a view to avoiding the confusion, the contradictions, and the frequent arbitrary effects of party government.

The suffrage in the new commonwealth is to be exercised throughout, in all elections, local and general, and in the secondary elections for members of the house of parliament, in accordance with the principle of "proportional representation with the single transferable vote." By this principle a voter, for instance, in the Transvaal, with thirty-six preferences, could vote either two votes for each candidate of five votes for the eighteen he should select. The result would be that no considerable minority would be without representation fairly proportioned to its strength.

The principle of equality in the upper house, as in the United States, Senate, is applied in the South African constitution, but not completely. Each of the four provinces chooses eight senators, through the vote of its provincial council and its members of the assembly, or lower house, and to these are added eight senators nominated by the Governor-General in Council. The members of the house of assembly are chosen by the province substantially according to the adult male European population. The natives who now have the vote are not to be deprived of it, but none can attain it in the future, and they are not eligible to the parliament.

The constitution is necessarily in the form of an act of the British Parliament, but amendments to some of its provisions may at any time be made by the parliament of South Africa, and any of them may be changed at any time by a two-thirds vote of the assembly and senate in joint session. Both English and Dutch are made official languages. All laws and documents are to be published in both, and other may be used in debates or court proceedings.

The parliament will meet in the assembly building at Cape Town. The government offices are to be at Pretoria, the capital of the Transvaal, while the supreme court and other high courts will be established in the chief city of the Orange River Colony, Bloemfontein. The railroads, seaports, etc., are to be managed by a commission at cost, and foreign commerce is to be apportioned; the Transvaal, through Delagoa Bay getting 50 per cent, Natal 30 and Cape Colony 20.

IRISH LAND BILL IS AGAIN PRESENTED IN PARLIAMENT

Whoever it exists, it elects the mayor, the aldermen, the chief of police, the county sheriff, the district attorney, and then defies the people to enforce the laws.

BASKETBALL GAMES IN THE GYMNASIUM

Very Lively Struggle for Championship in the Business Men's League at Y. M. C. A.

The struggle for first place in the Business Men's basketball league is carried on vigorously at each game played and at the present time two of the three teams are tied for first honors. H. H. Biles' team, by winning last night, is now running even with the players of J. L. Wilcox. The goal throwing on fouls of the captain, H. H. Biles, in this game was responsible for the defeat of their opponents. The final score was 8 to 2. The game was fast and rough from start to finish. John Simpson and E. E. Williams played star games for Biles' team while the guarding of J. P. Lewis and H. Holm of Wilcox's five kept down the score of their opponents to but one basket. In the game between P. C. Grant's men and the Lovejoy players, Lovejoy's team took another stride toward championship honors by winning 10 to 1. The guarding of T. H. Kennedy and W. H. Grant for Grant's team was very good. The sole difficulty lay in locating the basket. P. G. Volcott and Stanley Woodruff also played an aggressive game. G. W. Skelly showed much promise as a basketball player. S. Lovejoy and Stanley Dunwiddie were stellar lights for Lovejoy's five in throwing baskets. The game ended 6 to 0.

The practice for the exhibition to be given at the high school April 16 is going on daily. A new feature in a song by the Mendelssohn Club.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

When you have been offered "The Runaways" you have been offered the best in the musical comedy line. So, in view of that, it is an interesting announcement that this big New York success will be at the Myers theatre next Friday night. It is scoring this season as grandly as it did when it ran for seven months at the Casino, New York City, and then took the other larger northern cities by storm. Yet, there is reason for this season's triumph, and it is this: The company is a large one; the principals are stars; the original Casino Beauty Chorus is along; and the stage settings, costumes and electric effects are of great quantity and are rich in quality. Nothing has been left undone to make this season's production a brilliant one, and while the cost is great, yet the box office returns have been enormous. Such is success for a really meritorious piece. "The Runaways" will be seen at Myers theatre Friday evening, April 2.

THE BOOK BORROWER.

How Collectors Have Circumvented a Wicked Type.

The book borrower is the sworn foe of the book collector, and many stories are told of the plans adopted by the latter to defend his treasures from the assaults of the borrower. Especially is the collector opposed to the unfeeling wretch who borrows one volume out of a series and forgets to return it. This was one of Coleridge's weaknesses and was so pronounced that Lamb described him as "a maker of odd volumes." The late J. Whiteford MacKenzie, a well known collector, once told the present writer that when any one asked him for the loan of a single volume out of a set he always replied that he would rather lend him the whole set, fifteen or twenty volumes of the series than have them left as odd volumes on his hands. William Roberts, the renowned bibliophile, tells in "The Book Hunter in London" that the bookplate of a certain French collector bore this text from the parable of the ten virgins: "Go rather to them that sell and buy for yourselves." "Sir," said a man of wit to an acquaintance who lamented the difficulty which he found in persuading his friends to return the volumes that he had lent them—"Sir, your acquaintance find, I suppose, that it is much more easy to refrain the books themselves than what is contained in them."

An ingenious plan to limit book borrowing is told by J. Ashby Steery. In all the books of a certain cunning book collector he had the price written in plain figures. When any one asked him for the loan of a book he invariably replied, "Yes, with pleasure," and, looking in the volume, further added, "I see the price of this work is $2.75, 64" (or whatever it might happen to be). "You may take it at this figure, which will, of course, be refunded when the volume is returned." Sir Walter Scott's plan was ingenious. When he lent a book from his library he put in its place a wooden block bearing the name of the borrower and the date of the loan. Many were the anathemas leveled by collectors against those who would borrow or steal their volumes. Sometimes these were macabre rhymes written by students—as, for example, the following, which was inscribed upon a Latin book used in Aberdeen university:

El quilibet furetur
Hic libellum
Pro Phobem, per Jovem
I'll tell him, I'll tell him;
In ventum illi
I'll attack my scampbellum
And teach him to steal
My little Libellum.

In the library of a famous Glasgow collector there was recently the copy of Scott's "Minstrelsy of the Scottish Border" which belonged at one time to William Motherwell and in which the poet had inscribed the following verse:

William Motherwell says the work is his.
Who shall guiney him?
He that dares do it.
May the meikle doll stay him!

Even more violent denunciations were written against the book stealer in the sixteenth century, when books were more precious than now. Yet even the modern poet finds it needful to anathematize politely:

To the lost books my fancy clings
O'er them my memory groins.
I swear in spirit when I see
The signs among the shelves,
The Thackerays "loved and lost"
I mourn with sorrow tender,
Whoever had it also has
The curses of the lender.

The lady (Dessie Craigie) who wrote these lines expresses her gratitude for the fact that "no one borrows books," though that is not the opinion of Charles Snylen, who thus threatens the possessor of "The Marriage of Cupid and Psyche":

Cursed be he who robs me of this book,
With all his race. Let it be devoured
And brought down to the ground,
For that he wickedly, impudently took
That was another's. Let great serpents
Look

At him asleeping, with dull eyes of hate,
And let him, walking, be compassed of fate,
To eat his corpse within the nearest brook.

This is as comprehensive a curse as that which overtook the fated "Jackdaw of Rhimes"—and as ineffectual.—Dundee Advertiser.

MOORE'S REJOINER TO HEMINGWAY.

As I do not take the Janesville Daily Gazette it was not until a day or two ago that my attention was called and I had an opportunity to see the reply of Mr. Hemingway to our article published in the Janesville Gazette March 13th. And as I am the recipient of a number of inquiries by mail and personally from the teachers and others as to the merits of the present controversy I beg the courtesy of the Gazette to discuss this matter in its columns in detail and to make rejoinder to Mr. Hemingway. As I am no less than he desirous of giving the public the whole truth and nothing but the truth in a matter of so much importance as affects the well being of the common schools of Rock County and as Mr. Hemingway disputes us as to the statements of fact I know of no better method than to call to witness the spectators who were present, the 21 members of the County Board. The County Proceedings record and the documents now on file in the County Clerk's office, as to what really took place at the time when our "little plan" as Mr. Hemingway calls it—was executed and as to the reasons for it. And I invite all those interested to apply to these various witnesses to establish the truth or falsity of any and all statements made by Mr. Hemingway and ourselves relative thereto.

Mr. Hemingway wishes to know why we didn't take the public into our confidence while perfecting our "little plan" and then goes on to complain that it consumed two days and more and that I read a typewritten report of four pages and that this whole trouble and expense could easily have been avoided by simply refusing to vote the appropriation. How could we have taken the public more into our confidence in any matter coming before the County Board than as above recited by Mr. Hemingway and would it have been taking the public better into confidence to have done as Mr. Hemingway suggests we should have done and jammed this whole proceeding through the Board without debate? He can take either horn of the dilemma he likes. He has attempted to exaggerate both sides of the question at once. The truth is in the original action of the Board on November 12th it did not consume more than one-half hour, and in the final action the question was taken up not earlier than 11 A. M. Jan. 15th, and the matter was disposed of by the middle of the afternoon of the same day and even within this time the Board transacted quite a lot of other business while our committee retired to the Circuit Court chambers to prepare the resolution of Consolidation and to fix salaries, etc. How Mr. Hemingway can crowd two days' time and more within the above hours is a piece of jugglery with words of Father Time that cuts the climax. His complaints that the County is out $250 to $275 through the above assumed waste of time by the County Board and yet he says he has no quarrel with that body. He forgets that if he had not asked for these appropriations for deputies this matter would not have come before the Board and then there would have been no consequent "loss" of time and money. Let me say right here that the reason Mr. Hemingway has been made to suffer and had to bear the brunt of the "attack" is because he has been all along the ring leader in the long chain of circumstances as set forth in our report to the Board that led up to this trouble and the reason that Jones "attacked" him, as he charges, is because he desired to strike at the fountain head of the trouble and not because he had any personal enmity. He had a duty to perform and he had the courage to do it and he deserves the thanks of the entire County for being the first to take up the matter.

I am not authorized to speak for the District Attorney. However, as I am acquainted with the facts I will state that when the opinion came from the office of the State Superintendent that appropriations could legally be made Fisher accepted it without question as he had no desire to be placed in the attitude of hampering the County Superintendents. Later it was at my own request that we went over the law together and found that the State Superintendent was mistaken and not being desirous of placing the District Attorney and Mr. Hemingway in a conflicting attitude we resolved that we would proceed entirely independent of the District Attorney's office. Hence, the special attorney. But the Attorney General refused to give an official opinion to any but the District Attorney therefore we had to get an O. K. introduction from the District Attorney in order to proceed. This is all there is to "exploded circumstances."

Hemingway says that "Jones and Moore falsely state that I secured a 'snap' interpretation of the meaning of the word 'school'." A review of our statement shows that we said nothing of the kind. We simply stated that we got our authority from the Attorney General and Hemingway got his from the State Superintendent. If the latter was a snap interpretation then we have only to say that a gully conscience is his own accuser. With an equal degree of truthfulness Mr. Hemingway states that the Board forced us to withdraw all of our report except that which related to legality. The facts are that we made also specific statements concerning his official conduct. Mr. Hemingway admitted the truth of them and begged us not to publish them against him and as our Committee perceived in the course of the debate that we were going to get action on everything we were contending for we took pity on Hemingway and concluded not to press the case against him personally, so we withdrew our personal references to him for his sake to keep them out of the record. But we could have put them there if we cared to as those who were present on that day know that Hemingway had but few defenders in that body.

Hemingway says we falsely stated that he spent one-third of his time at Madison as a lobbyist in 1907. We got our information from a campaign statement issued by his "friends" when he was running for President of the State Teachers' Association. I ask him why he did not brand these "friends" as liars also at that time? If he had done so I think he would have hit some one pretty close at home and hit him right on general principles if not in this particular instance. Mr. Hemingway states that "in 1907 a bill drawn by me providing for diploma examination at expense of the County was vetoed by the Governor." Thus showing that as far back as that date he knew the County Board had no authority to make appropriations for such. How does this compare with his well known attitude towards the Board on this subject? Doubtless if this bill had been best for the purpose the Governor would not have vetoed it. I heartily wish he had gone a step farther and vetoed the bonus law. Verily I believe this State has never known a more brazen piece of legislative bliking, a juggling act that takes two dollars out of the school treasury and pretends to put a bonus of one dollar back when in fact a large share of that dollar is taken from the taxpayers of that district and passes this money over into the hands of one of two or three favored stove companies. In payment for a stove that would be dear at half the price and all in the interests of the schools, I suppose that when the representatives of these stove companies were at Madison working for the passage of this law that puts $200,000 of the public's money into their pockets that they had only the interests of the schools at heart. Ask the members of school boards what they think about it now that they have had time to think it over. Ask the taxpayer of the city who gets no ventilation out of the end he is not yet. If we are to get the next two annual installments of the bonus act we must bow our heads to the yoke and pay two prices for goodness knows how many more twigs. In other words in order to get this bonus we must open our district treasuries to every pilfering scheme that can be saddled upon the school authorities of the State under the guise of benefiting the schools. I don't object to improvements but I object to this method of obtaining them.

We are not at all worried about the deputy. If we could obtain the services of Mr. Hemingway the next time he was Superintendent for $200, it ought to be easy to obtain a deputy for $300. Hemingway says I compared this to my remarks to the Board that we had a "quintessence of Superintendents." I quote here my exact words, "You will have several hundred dollars on the transaction and you will obtain a horse worth more money than your old plug team. Moreover one of your present superintendents could accomplish more under this system than under the old."

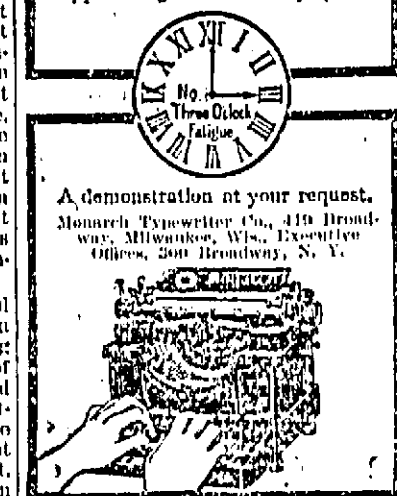

Hemingway still persists in quarreling with the Board about the smallness of the $1800 salary. I can but repeat that this is the exact sum he himself recommended and I might also add that as he has already approved of the "system" there doesn't seem much left to dispute between us. Mr. Hemingway asks Supervisor Jones and myself why if we believe he is violating the Statute we do not file charges against him and have him removed. Why did he not say this at the County Board meeting? We have done our duty as we have seen fit. His term will soon expire and with it he will be "removed" from all future incumbency. In conclusion I wish to say that this subject is bigger than one as to who shall sit at the County Board and should not be discussed like a campaign document.

I have submitted the foregoing statements of fact to supervisor Jones and he joins with me in their publication.

The Fence That Keeps in Shape

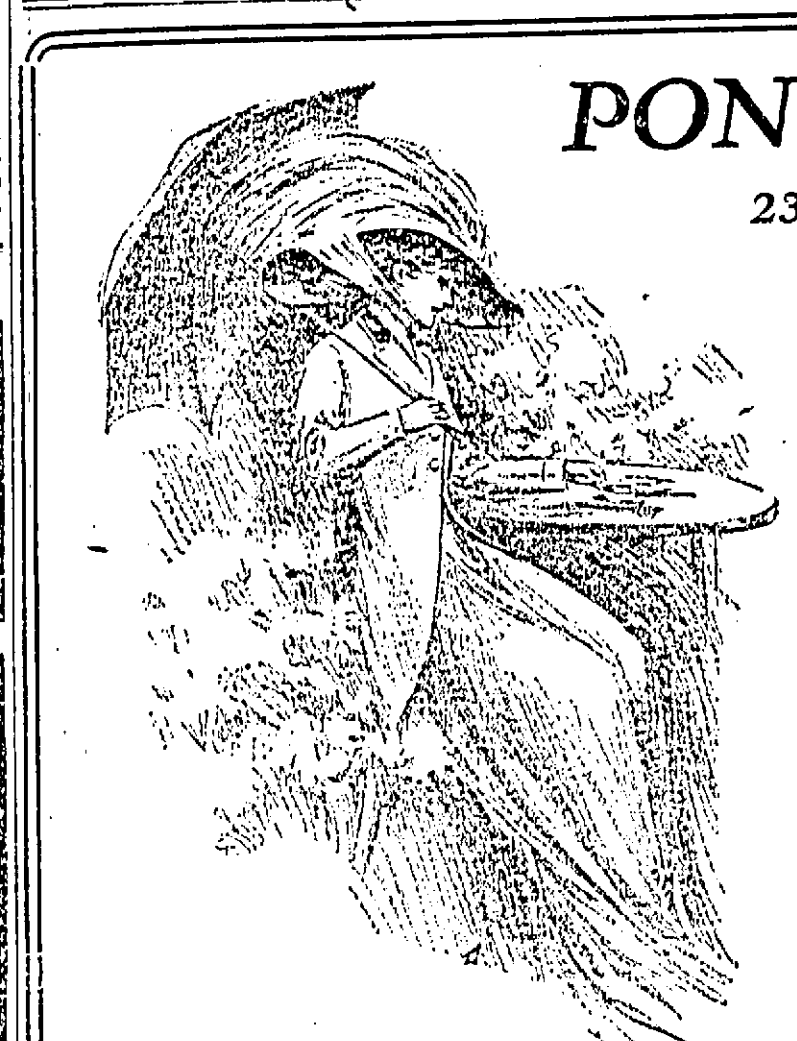

In view of the fact that a woven fence, of galvanized wire will wear for many years, an important point for the fence user to consider is the length of time the fence retains its original shape and appearance. This depends almost entirely upon the construction of the upright stay.

The stay wire in APEX fence is formed of separate pieces of wire coiled about each other at the intersection with the line wire, (as shown in above cut) forming a rigid, continuous stay wire, which holds the fence erect and upright, and keeps it in that position during the life of the fence.

This is a decided advantage over other methods of stay construction, and should not be overlooked when buying fence.

A CELEBRATION

Within the past few days talk relative to a home-coming or at least some sort of a celebration in Janesville on the Fourth of July has been discussed in many quarters. If such a feature is to be planned it is none too early to start in with the preliminary work. In Chicago there is an association of former Janesville residents who would like to come back to Janesville for the Fourth and have a good old-fashioned celebration. It would mean that fully five hundred visitors would come from the Windy City alone.

Janesville has long had an enviable name as an entertainer and if the word was passed about early that this Fourth was to see one of the usual celebrations for which it is justly famous, it would mean that thousands would flock to the city for a good time.

It is a subject worth considering carefully. It will cost considerable money and will mean long, hard hours of work for the committee in charge but it would be worth while in the end. It would mean that thousands of dollars would be expended in the city that would directly and its way into the general business of the city.

The Chicago Janesville association want to have a special train and come to the city headed by a band and then return later in the evening than the late trains ordinarily go. This is a nucleus for a home-coming if thought advisable that would bring hundreds of former residents back to their old home for two or three days.

There is much work to be done in preparing for such a gathering and if the plans are really being considered earnestly the time for deciding upon the matter is early enough to permit of making it a success. A mass meeting should be held and committees named to handle the affair with plenty of time and money to work with.

CITY AFFAIRS

The voters of Janesville have on next Tuesday an opportunity of naming their new city officers. The nominees of the republican party are all men tried and true and there is no reason for any republican going outside his own ticket to cast a ballot for a good man to fill a city office. Headed by Wilbur Carle, with Roy Cummings as candidate for city clerk, the city ticket is exceptionally strong. In the three contested wards, the second, fourth and fifth, good republicans have been named and their success should be made certain by hearty support.

The delay caused by the non-appearance of members of the council last evening in the question of taking away the saloon licenses of Polewell and Mrs. Walrath will not help matters much as far as these two are concerned.

It is now said that the county option law will not pass the present session of the legislature without a referendum attachment. If the law is to be passed it should have this privilege so that the voters of the state can have a voice in the affair.

If the members of congress do not look out their reference to stockholders and other portions of women's apparel placed on the higher tax that will bring them into discredit when they get home.

A bomb has been sprung on the opponents to Senator Stephenson by the rolling that their appropriation to continue the investigation of the campaign expenses of the last Senatorial primary is not legal.

Wisconsin is still to the fore-front when it comes to having its name before the public in some way or other. Take, for instance, our state representatives in congress.

Cannon still wields the gavel in the lower house of congress and the members who objected to his rule feel the force of his remarks every time he gives an opinion.

If the second ward desires an alderman that will care for their needs they should see to it that Mr. Scott is named by a rousing majority on Tuesday next.

Another woman paid the penalty for a brutal murder in the electric chair in New York state and yet they say that this is a civilized world.

Taft is positive that there should be a few more reductions in the tariff problem before congress gets through with the measure.

The solid south has begun to realize that it is not half as solid as it was once upon a time, way back just after the war days.

When the Rock river becomes navigable as far south as Sterling and as far north as Madison then Janesville will be really and truly a river port.

So that latest story about Roosevelt being attacked by a crazy Italian while on board ship is all a canard.

In naming Edward M. Hyzer as general counsel for the "North-Western, Janesville is again honored.

It looks now as though the present council will have the interurban problem to wrestle with.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

A RARE LITTLE MAIDEN.

Allice Whaley of San Diego, Cal., is thirteen years old and a Carnegie medal heroine.

It all happened at Ocean Beach last summer.

Many people were bathing in the surf. Little seven-year-old Bruce McKenzle was about to lose his life when, at great risk to herself, Allice seized him.

Then, with rare discretion, she got the little boy to take hold of her long braided hair, and while he thus clung, she swam back with him to safety.

For this unique rescue the trustees of the Carnegie hero fund singled her out for a medal and $2,000 besides for her education.

And the beauty about the whole matter is the admiration of her friends has not turned the head of the brave child in the least. She is the same sweet, simple child as before.

Of course the newspapers have bothered her concerning interviews, and she talks naively of her future.

She doesn't know whether she will be a great nurse like Florence Nightingale or a virtuoso.

Listen: "I think perhaps we shall take some of the money and get a piano so I can take lessons. I play the violin, and piano lessons will help me. I have always thought I should like to be a trained nurse. It must be nice taking care of poor, sick people. But I don't know yet what I shall be."

Blessings on the lassie, with her fine innocence of the future!

Allice studies at a convent and doesn't bother her head about the boys. She says:

"We aren't allowed to look over the fence at ordinary people, to say nothing of looking at boys. Mother says I can't marry till I'm twenty-five years old. She says she was married at seventeen and that I must profit by her experience."

Concerning which one devoutly hopes that Allice Whaley at twenty-five may be as unspooled as she is at thirteen. Perhaps that is too much to expect.

HEALTHY JEWISH RACE.

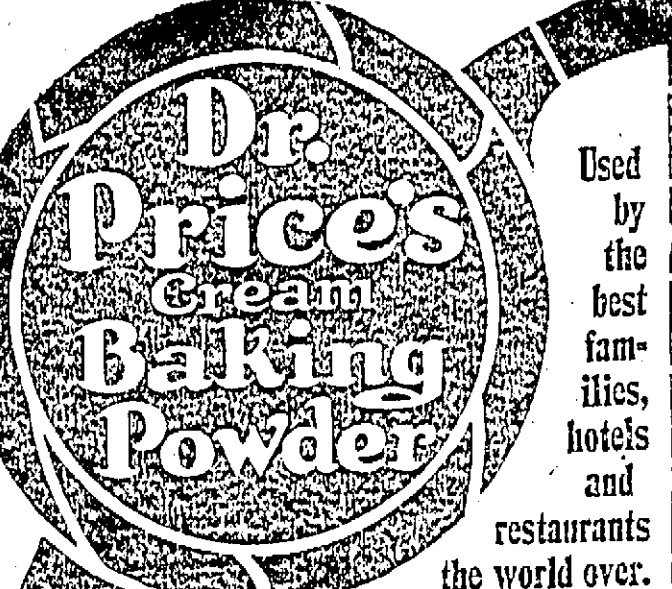

According to Lombroso, of 1,000 Jews born 217 die before the age of seven years, while 435 Christians, more than twice as many, are likely to die within the same period. In London, according to the testimony of Dr. Behrnt, consumption is less frequent among the Jews in the most squallid dens of Whitechapel than among the Christians.

The Jew in History.

Long before Socrates taught philosophy, or before Herodotus wrote history, Israel had an organized civilization. It has literature before most nations had letters, and art while other nations knew only war and savagery. Draper says that "they (the Jews) were our factors and bankers before we knew how to read."

THE HONESTY THAT WON—MAX F. SCHMITTBERGER, WHO HAS JUST BEEN APPOINTED HEAD OF THE UNIFORM POLICE FORCE OF NEW YORK CITY.

New York City.—With the advance, ment to head of the uniform police force of this city, Max F. Schmittberger, one of the most unique and interesting characters in the entire police force, is brought to the attention of the world for a second time. For 15 years Max Schmittberger has fought his way against most unusual odds to his present high position of honor and esteem.

It was 15 years ago that Schmittberger first attracted the attention of the entire country in connection with the investigation of New York's police department. The absolute reticence of the "system" in New York has never been paralleled in another city. The men at the head of the department were accepting bribes right and left to protect resorts of all kinds from arrest. Not only were houses of ill-repute and gambling dens actually sanctioned under this regime, but thieves were openly allowed to prey on New York's inhabitants and were immune from punishment by the payment of a certain stipend.

It was in the investigation of the police department and the upheaval which followed, that William T. Jerome, the present district attorney, and John W. Goddard, new justice of the supreme court, received their first glimpse of this remarkable character and it was during this same investigation that Max F. Schmittberger openly testified against himself and his superiors and supposed that his career was ended on this account.

His own testimony, given upon the solicitation of Jerome, Schmittberger's wife and Roy, Father Ducey for the sake of righteousness, was enough to have sent him over the road, for he admitted having taken money and of having assisted the "system" in every way possible.

But Max Schmittberger was a changed man from that day. Roy, Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst believed in him in spite of his admitted crime and he believed that Schmittberger, if he turned over a new leaf, had the making of just such a man as New York most needed.

The 15 years since the horrible upheaval have borne out Dr. Parkhurst's convictions, for since that day, while working against the greatest of odds and the greatest of handicaps, Schmittberger has continued to progress up the line, and now he has just been made head of the uniformed police force of New York city, and this time he has had pitted against him not only all of the criminal class of New York city, but many of the political powers, which have sought his downfall. Faked charges have been brought up against him, but he has outriden the storm and has won the praise of men who did not trust him in the beginning.

New York's present efficient police service can be credited to much to the continued honesty of Max Schmittberger as to any other one man. Upon the evidence given by him, even though he hit himself, 15 years ago, the corrupt practices were completely uprooted and since that time no man has been more zealous in fighting graft on the police force than Max Schmittberger.

Teachers Must Study.
The successful men of every business are those who have been close students. The man who is so busy that he has no time to study never gets very high in his profession. The excuse, lack of time, is not valid. We all have all the time there is, and that is ample for all purposes. It is simply a matter of using it properly. An hour or more of good hard study should be in the daily program of every teacher.

CUT TO PIECES BY A SWITCH ENGINE

Floyd Lash, Student at Spring Brook Interlocking Tower, Met Terrible Death Last Evening.

Floyd Lash, a young man about twenty years of age who came here from Hastings, Mich., last October to attend the Valentine School of Telegraphy and who had for two weeks past been a student helper at the Spring Brook interlocking tower, met a terrible fate on the tracks sometime between seven and eight o'clock last evening. One of his duties was to attend to the switch lamps in that vicinity and it is supposed that he was making his rounds when death overtook him.

Dayton Avery, a night watchman at the Hohemsted plant, discovered mutilated remains on the North-Western belt line track, just east of the Hough Porch Shade factory, while proceeding in that direction to get some oil, shortly after eight o'clock. The body was stretched out between the rails with the feet toward the north, while the head, completely severed from the trunk, was lying about eight feet further north and outside of the tracks. The right hand was nearly cut off and the body had been rolled and pulled until it was nearly twisted in two at the waist. A revolver, with cartridges in each chamber and none of them discharged, was found near by and it was subsequently learned that Lash had been in the habit of carrying the weapon while attending to the switch lamps at night.

The track where the tragedy occurred is used solely for switching and a locomotive in charge of Engineer Cowen and Fireman Dawson which passed that way several times between seven and eight o'clock is supposed to have been the one which ran over the unfortunate youth.

Watchman Avery went at once to E. Ashley's grocery store at the corner of South Jackson street and Western avenue and telephoned to the police station. Chief Appleby, District Attorney J. L. Fisher, and C. & N. W. Special Agent C. M. Paupel went at once to the scene and after a careful examination of the premises had been made, the remains were removed to Ryan's undertaking rooms. There was no evidence, whatever, pointing to anything other than accidental death and there will be no coroner's inquest.

Chief Appleby sent a message to Hastings, Mich., last evening and this morning received a reply from Rev. O. Lash, the young man's father, asking that the remains be placed in charge of an undertaker and stating that he would come to Janesville at once.

Prior to obtaining the position at the interlocking tower, Floyd Lash helped pay the expenses of his preparation for a telegraph operator's calling by working as writer and bell boy at the Hotel Myers. He was a young man of high moral character, always genial and obliging, and was held in high esteem by all with whom he was associated. His friends remember that his hearing was imperfect and to this slight deafness attributed the otherwise almost inexplicable accident.

HAYLOCK ENTERED PLEA OF GUILTY

This Morning to Charge of Stealing Copper Wire and Paid Fine of $40 and Costs.

When the case of the State vs. George Haylock, Jr., of Edgemoor, was called for trial in municipal court this morning, the defendant through his attorney, L. E. Gottle, entered his plea of "guilty" to "larceny" and a fine of $40 and costs was imposed and collected. Haylock's offense was the theft of a large coil of copper wire belonging to a telegraph company.

GAZETTE'S ARTICLE RETURNS THE MONEY

Story of Money Sent in Letter and Returned to Sender Brought Immediate Results.

Some days ago the Gazette published a story of a letter which had been sent by someone in Janesville to a relative in Milwaukee whose address could not be deciphered by the postal authorities which contained money. The amount was not named and only enough of the letter published to give the writer an opportunity to identify the letter. The paper had not been off the press but a few hours before the writer of the letter appeared at the postoffice and claimed the letter, fully established their identity. It was a demonstration of the value of the Gazette as an advertising medium.

AGGRESSIVE WORK TO BE CARRIED ON

Candidates and City Committee Plan for Invasion of the Fourth and Second Wards.

At a meeting held with City Chairman McNamara last evening plans for an aggressive republican campaign throughout the city were made particularly in the Fourth and Second wards, where excellent chances of republican victories are reported. Dr. Pembler's campaign in the Fourth against present Alderman Rehfeld promises to be the hottest kind of a contest and incidentally will greatly aid Mr. Carlo to make an invasion of the hitherto democratic stronghold. It is also Roy Cummings', republican candidate for clerk, home ward which will help the city and ward ticket considerably. In the second the contest between Scott, the republican nominee, and Connell will be pushed and every indication is that Mr. Scott will win out. Reports from the third and first wards were heard, but as there is no contest for alderman in these two wards the energies of the committee will be devoted to the fourth and second. Thus far the name of E. H. Peterson has not been placed on the republican ballot in the fifth ward owing to the absence of Chairman McNamara from the city, but it is expected he will be in the tomorrow. If he expects to run independent. His candidacy will also aid Mr. Carlo by bringing out the republican vote of the ward. The candidates were all assessed for campaign expenses.

RECEIVERSHIP FOR ROYAL CLOTHING CO.

Stock of S. River Street Establishment Turned Over to Deputy U. S. Marshal Appleby Last Evening.

Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal W. H. Appleby arrived here from Madison late yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Stewart, who is clerk in the Richmond, Jackson & Swanson law office, and by virtue of an order from the federal court took possession of the Royal Clothing Co., stock at No. 20 South River street. It appears that the Parman Mercantile company of Chicago which went into bankruptcy some time ago, at one time issued a statement to the effect that it owned stores in Janesville, West Allis, New York, and other places, and the creditors have acted on the belief that the local establishment was a branch outlet. On the other hand, E. H. Blisko, who opened the establishment here about eight months ago, claims that he purchased his stock from the Parman concern and that he is an independent dealer. At the outset, so he claims, the Chicago firm was to back him strongly in the local enterprise but it presently began to draw upon him so fast that he was unable to keep up his stock and it became very much depleted. The failure, also, seriously injured his reputation. Mr. Stewart is taking inventory of the stock and is temporarily in complete charge. The situation is badly complicated, but it is found that Mr. Blisko has good legal ground to stand upon in his contention to retain the federal authorities from interfering with his business which probably be started.

In Court Today And Examination of William Miller Was Taken Up—Bidwell Is Out on Bail.

Complaining that he was suffering with gallstones and refusing all nourishment excepting an occasional glass of milk, George W. Bidwell had been confined to the authorities at the county jail considerable anxiety since his incarceration last Friday. By virtue of a real estate transfer which was recorded in these columns yesterday, his wife was enabled to raise the $1,000 cash bail for him at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. When the bail came to convey him to the city hall where the arrangements for temporary freedom were to be made he was so weak that he reeled and tottered like a drunken man. This morning he was unable to appear for his hearing and the action against William Miller, his side-partner in the chicken-bagging expedition last Thursday night, who is alleged to have been implicated in the theft of silverware, harness, clothing, cutlery, and so forth from the home of John Hanson on Sunday evening, March 21, was taken up. Bidwell's examination was set for next Saturday morning.

Hanson on the Stand. All the forenoon and the greater part of the afternoon was taken up with the examination of John Hanson, the first witness on the stand, whose home is on a farm fronting the road running from the brickyard to Mineral point avenue. Hanson testified that he had sold this to Henry Gunness, who was who was in the city when Hanson's goods and chattels in a sleigh that had been left outside the barn. Hanson was lodging in a tobacco stripping shed. He described, identified, and evaluated his property and declared that it had been his practice to peddle silverware, razors, harness, etc., in the country during the winter time.

Large Gallery Present. A gallery of about 300 people watched the proceedings. It is understood that Mrs. Bidwell told the officers that Miller was with Bidwell when the junk from Hanson's place was brought into her home.

ANOTHER TALK ON CITY AFFAIRS.

J. C. Nichols Discusses Phase of Municipal Departments.

Upon the efficiency of our fire and police departments depend the safety and good order of our city. These two most important departments of the municipality deserve particular attention on the part of the chief executives. Upon the efficiency of the men who have the power to make the difference between the success of the city depends. Both are important and equally so and should be treated upon a parity.

As the head of the police department known as city marshal or chief of police, he is appointed by the council, at an election for that purpose or named by the fire and police commission should be supreme in his department and entirely responsible for the work of the men under him.

The supreme court is to decide the question of appointment or election of the head of this department and who has the power to name the head of this department so that it is out of place to discuss it at this time. The case has been before the circuit court which gave the power of naming the head of the department to the fire and police commissioners and is now before the upper court on an appeal.

However, this case is decided it will settle the present discussion in the city and permit of a more efficient management of this department in the future. If elected, it would be my duty to co-operate with the head of the department to see that the city ordinances were enforced and law and order preserved at all times regardless of consequences.

Upon the fire department depends the safety of our city. Every facility for insuring this should be given the department. Every aid possible for improving its present efficiency should be given and there should be no pains spared to see that it is kept at the high standard which it now is at.

Janesville has been particularly fortunate in its fire losses for many years past and part of this is due to the efficiency of the members of the department. This is a valuable asset in inducing new industries to come to the city to locate. Its importance should not be lost sight of.

Harmony in both departments is essential and the Mayor can do much to bring this about should discord arise. I believe it to be the duty of the mayor to work in hearty cooperation with these two departments so as to bring them to the highest standard of efficiency possible. To do this and time must be devoted to the work and I shall consider it part of my official duties if elected, to see that it is done.

Should the supreme court decide that the fire and police commission have the power to select the heads of the departments it should be the care of the Mayor to appoint only such men on this commission as would be free from prejudice and entangling influences that they might give to their duties impartial judgment based in no way by personal feelings.

Respectfully,
JOHN C. NICHOLS.

The Standard Hollow Concrete Building Block

Is the Block you will choose if you will investigate its merits

It is the only block in Janesville made on a face down machine, which permits of making beautiful faced blocks, and of making blocks with a finer grade of material in the face than is used in the body.

We use a fine grade of sand for the face, using 3 parts sand, 1 part cement and 2% waterproofing compound.

The Standard is the only hollow concrete block made in Janesville in which waterproofing compound is used, making it non-porous and waterproof, and preventing the face from turning white.

It is made of a better grade of material than any other block in Janesville, and is guaranteed not to crack, like many of the blocks have cracked as can be seen by looking around the city.

It Costs But 1c Per Running Inch

It is a prettier block than blocks made of coarse material throughout, and is made with four different kinds of face.

Home Course In Modern Agriculture

XII.—The Selection and Care of Farm Machinery

By C. V. GREGORY,

Agricultural Division, Iowa State College

Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association

THE methods of farming followed today are made possible only by the use of modern labor-saving machinery. The farm hand of today needs brains more than muscles. The ability to handle a complicated machine successfully is more valuable than the power to do a hard day's manual labor.

With the coming of improved machinery the problem of what to buy, and what to get along without has become a serious one. The farmer has more money tied up in machinery than in any one thing besides his land. Having too much machinery is nearly as bad as having too little. What is needed is a wise selection.

It is always well to do a little figuring before buying a new machine. Dividing the cost of the implement by the number of years it may be reasonably expected to last will give the amount that must be charged to depreciation each year. Add to this an allowance for repairs, storage and each year's share of the interest, and you will have the yearly cost of the machine. A little further figuring will show whether the benefit received from it in a year will warrant this cost.

Machinery may be roughly divided into five classes—tillage, planting, harvesting and miscellaneous. Of the many tillage implements there are some that are absolutely necessary on any farm. Among these are the plows. For the farmer on a quarter section a sixteen inch riding plow will be all that is needed for the field work. In addition it may be well to have a cheap walking plow for plowing the garden, turning out potatoes and for use in case of an emergency. A gang plow requires too many horses to be practicable on the average 160 acre farm. On larger farms, where plenty of horses are available, a gang plow will save the time of an extra man. It is a good plan to have the plow supplied with two or three moldboards of different slants. A steep moldboard pulverizes the soil more and for this reason is a good thing to use on stubble land. On clover sod, however, a longer moldboard should be used in order to lessen the draft.

One of the most important tillage implements is the disk. No other machine will pulverize the soil so quickly or thoroughly. The use of a tongue truck—a small two wheeled arrangement—under the rear end of the tongue is of considerable advantage in taking the weight off the horses' necks. Solid wheel disks pulverize the ground more thoroughly than spudgers or cutaways.

A good harrow is a necessity on any farm. The flexible type is best for all conditions, as it gets down into the hollows and rides over trash better than will a solid frame harrow. Spring tooth harrows, rollers and weeders all have their special uses, but can hardly be said to be necessary on the average quarter section.

Next in order come the cultivators, and there are so many styles of these that choosing is a difficult matter. The most important part of the cultivator is the shovels. A happy medium is struck in the six shovel type. The shovels on this can be run deep enough to loosen the soil well the first two times over the field and can later be set shallow enough to avoid serious injury to the spreading roots. If you are in the corn business extensively enough to afford two sets of cultivators it is well to have special surface machines for the last two cultivations. Some companies make surface blades which can be attached in place of the shovels when so desired. In the hands of a careful man the two row cultivator does good and rapid work.

First in the line of planting machines come the seeders. While costing a little more at first, there is no better implement for sowing small grain than the disk drill. The disks cut through cornstalks and other trash, and the seed is deposited evenly and at a uniform depth. The resulting evenness of stand will cause an increased crop sufficient to pay the entire cost of the drill in a year or two.

In selecting a corn planter the runner type of furrow opener is preferable to the disk, since the latter is hard to guide. The essential point in planters, however, is the drop. If you are in the habit of grading your seed corn carefully so that the kernels are all about the same size the edge drop plates will give a more even stand than will the round hole drop. Planters in which the plates are turned by a chain from the axle and the wire used only to open the shoe are superior to drop every time than those in which all the work is done by the wire.

There are two haying implements that are absolutely essential, the mower and the rake. The sure to pick a wide cut mower. Six feet is a good width. The extra draft amounts to little, and considerable time will be saved in going over the field.

Where much hay is made the old way of raking in bunches and pitching it on to the wagon by hand is too slow and laborious. A much better plan is to rake the hay into windrows with a side delivery rake and gather it up with a hay loader. Where the hay is put in the barn a set of double harpoon forks will make short work of the unloading. If it is to be stacked some form of stacker will save a great deal of hard work.

The most important harvesting machine is the self blinder. The blinder is the most complicated machine on the farm and the one most likely to get out of order. In buying a blinder simplicity of construction, ease of adjustment and handiness of oiling are important points to look after. A tongue truck is an attachment that should go with every blinder. This is the only means of eliminating side draft that has yet been discovered. A tongue truck is rather expensive, but so are sore shoulders and necks on the horses at harvest time.

Where much stock is kept the corn blinder is a necessary implement. By cutting a large share of the corn and using it as fodder or silage much feed is saved that would otherwise be wasted. About 40 per cent of the entire feeding value of the corn plant is in the stalk. When these are left standing in the field the greater part of this feed is wasted. The shocked fodder may profitably be run through a shredder before feeding. This will break the corn and leave the stalks in the best shape to be fed or used for bedding.

One of the most important of the miscellaneous implements is the windmill. No farmer can afford to pump water for his stock by hand when the wind will do it for nothing after the mill has once been put up. In erecting a windmill be sure that it is put on a high enough tower so that surrounding trees or buildings will not cut off the wind. A mill which is geared back so that the wheel makes three revolutions or so to one stroke of the pump will run in a lighter wind than will the straight geared type. A three legged tower is just as strong as a four and considerably cheaper.

A machine that is almost indispensable on a stock farm is the gasoline engine. The original cost of these engines is reasonable, and the amount required for fuel and repairs is small. With a gasoline engine to furnish the power to run a sheller and grinder feed can be cheaply and easily prepared for the stock. The engine will also saw wood, if you are fortunate enough to have any to saw, run the silage cutter, grindstone, separator, churn and washing machine. It may also replace the windmill as a source of power for pumping.

In selecting a gasoline engine be sure to get one large enough to do the required work easily, remembering at the same time that where much light work is to be done a small engine will do it with much less gasoline than will be used by a large one. This objection to a large engine can be overcome to a large extent by so arranging the work that several light machines may be run at the same time. The most reliable type of engine is the four cycle, in which there are two revolutions of the flywheel to one explosion. The water system of cooling is the most efficient, though air cooled engines are all right for light work.

Another necessary machine of the stock farm is the manure spreader. Not only does this save a great deal of work, but it also applies the manure more evenly and will cover a greater amount of ground with a given quantity of manure. There should be little wood in a manure spreader, since it rolls out quickly.

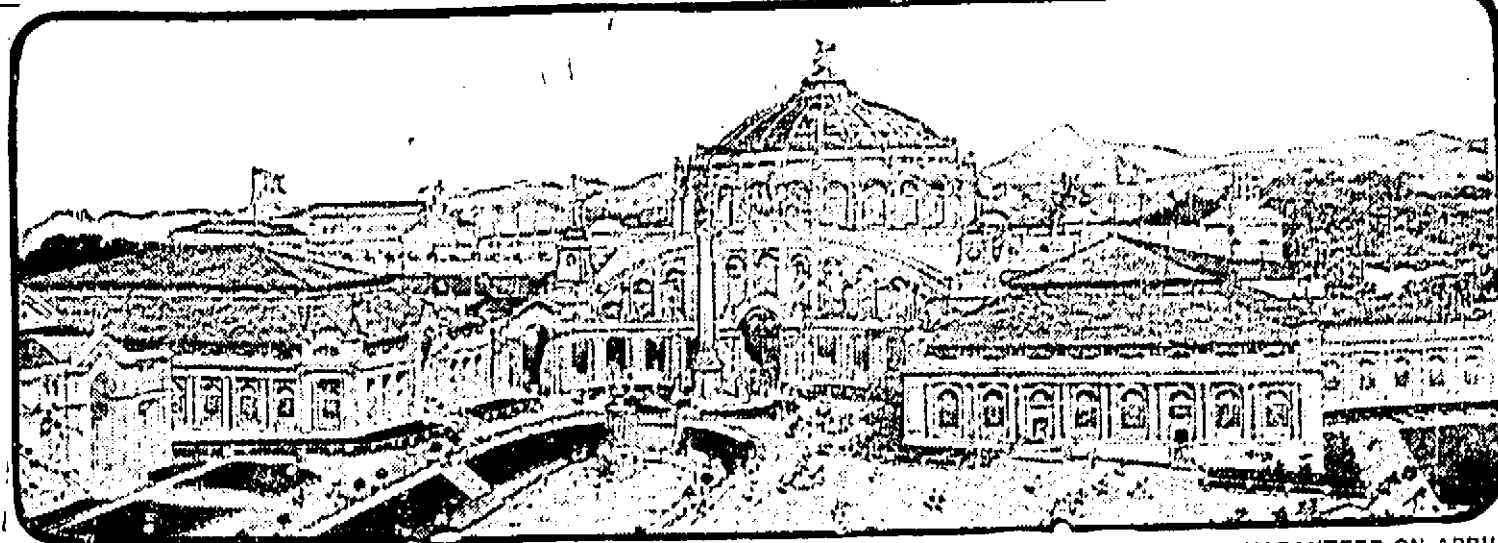

Cure for Burns or Scalds.

Thoroughly bruise a raw onion and a potato into a pulp, by scraping or beating them with a rolling pin; mix the pulp with a good tablespoonful of salad oil, and apply it to the naked burn or scald; secure it on the part with a linen bandage.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BUILDING AT THE ALASKA-YUKON-PACIFIC EXPOSITION, COMPLETION IS GUARANTEED ON APRIL 15.

By HEATON.

Seattle, Wash.—Uncle Sam is taking a large interest in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific, which opens in Seattle on June 1, than in any other exposition ever held.

At the World's fair St. Louis, the United States government exhibit covered an area of 126,496 square feet. At the Lewis and Clark exposition in Portland, it covered 75,264 square feet.

At the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition the government buildings cover an area of 137,336 square feet and there are five of these magnificent exhibit-palaces.

The government's showing at the big fair is entirely voluntary. It was not asked to contribute a dollar to the assistance of the exposition and did not do so. It is making its own exhibit for purely educational and commercial reasons and it is paying for its own buildings and meeting the expense of assembling its exhibits.

Here are some of the things the government will have done by the day the exposition is thrown open to the world.

Expended $150,000 for exhibit buildings.

Expended $200,000 for general government exhibits.

Expended $100,000 for Alaska's exhibit.

Expended $25,000 for the Philippines exhibit.

Expended $25,000 for the Hawaiian exhibit. (Hawaii has raised $25,000 additional.)

Provided historical exhibit from National museum.

Provided exhibit showing principal administrative functions of the government and their educational value in connection with the development of commerce in the countries bordering on the Pacific ocean.

JAMES H. BOYLE

MRS. JAS. H. BOYLE

James H. Boyle who kidnapped "Billy" Whitt, and Mrs. James H. Boyle, his wife, whom the boy identified as his nurse during his days of waiting in Cleveland. The pair, now facing trial, probably under the Pennsylvania laws, which will allow a maximum penalty of life imprisonment if convicted of kidnapping.

The plain tendency

among strong advertisers is to use fewer mediums and larger space. In a campaign which is to be general in scope, newspapers of large circulation are obviously the ones to choose, because it is only in this way that you can be sure of covering your public.

We have preached for a long time this doctrine of concentration. When we began preaching it, it was not fashionable. Now, more and more, merchants are seeing the truth of it. Every shrewd merchant knows the value of concentration of energies upon the desired object, and in advertising the concentration of your advertising so as to make a big showing in one field, rather than a sprinkling of ads in a dozen fields is productive of best results.

The field covered by the Gazette in itself is sufficient for most merchants in Janesville. Cultivate it thoroughly by advertising continuously, and you will be reaching over three-fourths of the homes in this territory.

Advertising rates on contract:

100 inches, 20c per inch.

300 inches, 18c per inch.

500 inches, 15c per inch.

1000 inches, 12 1/2c per inch.

Expended $5,000 for war department exhibit.

Features of the government's exhibit will be:

Life saving station, fully equipped; daily demonstrations.

Native bands from Hawaii and Alaska.

Celebrated Philippines Constabulary band, which won the world's championship at St. Louis World's fair.

One or more dirigible balloons.

Complete mint and assay office in constant operation.

Revenue cutter service and marine hospital service exhibits.

Plate printer experts from bureau of printing and engraving will make genuine bank notes daily.

Data affecting commerce and labor from department of commerce and labor.

Entire museum of the United States postoffice department.

State and judicial documents relative to the early organization of the government from the departments of state and justice.

Models of all battleships and cruisers, the dry dock Dewey, guns and ordnance equipment; models of every type of gun made for the navy since the organization; relics of the ill-fated Maine and Dewey's entrance into Manila harbor.

World's champion two-men bowling team.

Madison, Wis.—When the Schwoegler brothers, Al and Tony, of this city, smashed the world's record in the two-men event at Pittsburgh by rolling 1,301 pins, they established a mark which is likely to stand for some time to come. The old record 1,254, which was broken by the pins, was looked upon as phenomenal.

The Schwoegler brothers have won many honors in state bowling tournaments, but the Madison pair was ambitious to score first honors in the national event, and when they broke the two-men record their dream was realized. In one game Tony rolled 282 pins and had it not been for one bad frame he would have reached the 300 mark, as the rest of the frames showed strikes.

Al Schwoegler is an athlete of the short and rugged type, and rolls a swift ball in perfect form. Tony is tall and slender and uses a slower alley and curving toward the center. The brothers have come into much prominence as the result of their world's title and have signed contracts to give exhibition games the coming summer in Chicago and New York.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 30.—Collision of Two Freight Trains.—An accident on the Chicago & North-western railroad occurred at 4 o'clock this morning, at Otter Creek bridge. The regular freight train from the north on ascending the heavy grade north of Milton Junction became "wedged" when the rear end was detached and the forward part proceeded to the junction. Meanwhile, the rear portion commenced running back down grade and met an extra freight coming down grade, both being under full headway. The collision was terrific, resulting in throwing the locomotive, Titus, into the creek and smashing up 10 freight cars, and injuring 12 or 15 others. The engineer of the Titus, John Anderson, reversed his engine, threw his train, and, off himself, both conductor and fireman. The engine of the forward train, in which were Conductor Charles Cole, John Dugan, and James Maynard, was completely demolished. Mr. Cole was thrown clear from the car, also Dugan, while Maynard was thrown some twenty feet into the creek. Colorado were severely but not dangerously injured about the head and chest. The rear train was loaded with lumber, shingles and flour, which were strewn about promiscuously. None of the regular trains was delayed as the track was cleared in time.

Recollections of Tour.—In a London-drawing room recently the hostess said to a comfortable-looking lady, the widow of a wealthy Midland manufacturer, who had been touring during the winter in the sunny south: "Of course, you went to Rome, dear Mrs. Dush?" "Rome?" replied the widow, vaguely and meditatively. "Did we go to Rome, Ethel?"—to her daughter this. "Yes, ma, you know we did, that big place where I bought those lovely silk stockings."

ALL UNSTRUNG.

Many Janesville People Suffer From Nervous Troubles And Don't Know Why.

Thousands of cases of kidney trouble show outward symptoms, except nervousness, depression, languor, irritability and an inclination to worry over trifles. It is generally due to the poisonous action of uric acid on blood and system and can't be cured except by curing the kidneys. Don't Kidney Pills cure these ills by curing the kidneys. Janesville women are learning it. Here's a local case.

Mrs. James Plantz, living at 203 S. Duane St., Janesville, Wis., says: "For some time I felt miserable. My system seemed to be all run down. I was nervous at times and upon examination found that my kidneys were weak. I decided to try a kidney tonic and sent to the People's drug store for a box of Don's Kidney Pills. I took them and can say I am very much pleased with the results obtained. I am feeling so much better that I do not hesitate to give my name as a public endorsement of such an excellent kidney remedy."

Gone to Sparta.—Quite a number of our citizens have gone to Sparta, summoned thither to attend a law suit. It appears that some time before Elder Martin was summoned to appear before an ecclesiastical court to answer to certain charges. Proceedings were stayed in the case for some cause, against the elder commenced suit against those who preferred the charges for slander. The case is now before the Circuit Court, and it is said that the developments are likely to be rich.

Improving.—The recent rains have taken the frost out of the ground, and the roads are improving rapidly. There has been considerable produce on the market today.

ASKS JUSTICE FOR PRISONER.

Banker Morse Asks Fellow Unfortunates to Get Another Chance.

New York, March 30.—Magistrate Crane, sitting in the Tombs police court, received a letter from Charles W. Morse, the convicted banker, saying that Morse was convinced that one of his fellow prisoners was innocent of the crime for which he was awaiting sentence, and asking the magistrate to call on Morse in prison, if convenient, to discuss the case. Magistrate Crane called on Morse and promised to do anything he could for the man.

This is the second time Morse has intervened for a fellow prisoner. About six weeks ago he wrote Magistrate Walsh regarding a young Texan with whom he became acquainted, and as a result the man was sent back to Texas on board one of the former Morse steamships.

KILLS HIS WIFE AND CHILD.

Michigan Man's Courage Falls and Death Pact Is Unkept.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Mar. 30.—An atrocious double murder was committed in Kent county, eight miles southwest of Manistowic Sunday night, when the wife and infant child of George Hooper, a farmer, were killed to death with an ax. The husband was placed under arrest and confessed that he killed his wife and child. He said that he and his wife talked all night about how nice it would be for the three of them to die together. Finally, according to Hooper's story, it was agreed between them that he should kill them all. When he saw them dead he says he lost his courage and instead of killing himself fled into the woods. The Manistowic authorities think Hooper is insane.

New York city to have the most beautiful drive in America, if not in the world.

Hudson river drive as it will appear at the viaduct when completed and map showing the course of the drive along the Hudson.

New York City.—If the borough president, Mr. Ahrens, has his way New York city will have the most beautiful and romantic drive in America and there will be but few in Europe to compare with it. At the present time Mr. Ahrens and his project are in trouble. He acted upon a resolution passed in June, 1906, which authorized the extension of Riverside drive, but owing to the lack of funds, this has been delayed until last week, when he opened the project for bids.

There was a storm of disapproval and as a final outcome an injunction restraining Mr. Ahrens from opening the bids which he had invited was obtained. The extension, however, will undoubtedly some day in the near future be put through.

The proposed addition to the thoroughfare would extend it to a length of nine miles. The present drive stops at One Hundred and Fifty-Eighth street. The estimated cost of completing this would be approximately $5,000,000. The plan is detailed in a bill authorized in 1906 includes a viaduct 1,800 feet long over the deep valley at Dyckman street, and calls for the finishing of the road in asphalt macadam. This is a composition of coarse stone and asphalt mixed together.

When the asphalt is hot and then pressed into place by heavy rollers, it is recommended by prominent engineers as the most enduring and serviceable composition obtainable and the cost is little more than ordinary macadam.

The total width of the proposed extension is to average from 115 to 120 feet. This will include two driveways, two sidewalks, a service road and a bridge path. One of the driveways will be for vehicles traveling north and the other for those going in the opposite direction. The service road is to be distinct from the others practically a street. The road is designed to have a height of 100 feet above water and will be practically level throughout its course.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

TO SHARPEN RAZORS

Device Holds Blades in Position for Strapping.

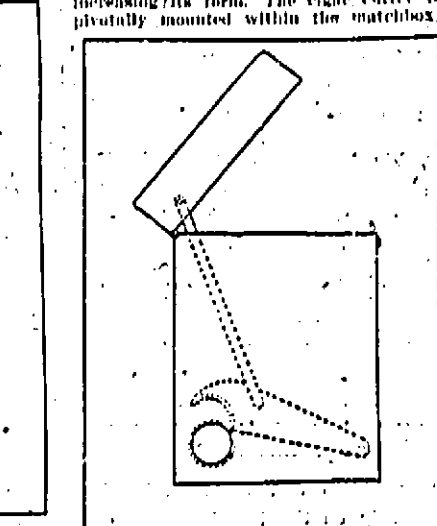

An effective tool for the sharpening of all kinds of razors has been invented by an Ohio man. This is a holder adapted to hold the blades of either safety or ordinary razors and so constructed that the blades cannot slip off the strap, as sometimes occurs. The device consists of

CIGAR CUTTER IN MATCHBOX

Cuts Off End of Cigar When Lid of Matchbox is Dropped.

To make the matchbox doubly useful to the smoker, a New York inventor has hit upon the happy thought of combining the matchbox with a cigar cutter. The matchbox is of the ordinary size and shape. The cigar cutter in no way impairs its form. The cigar cutter is pivoted within the matchbox.

NEW SCALP-SPRAYER

Without Spilling Them. People who have used hair and scalp tonics to any extent and experienced the difficulty in saturating the hair without saturating the clothing and carpet as well will appreciate the scalp-sprayer designed by a New York man. This device works on the principle of an atomizer. It consists of a hose to which a ring is attached. In this ring is set a compressed rubber bulb and leading from the bulb is a tube, the end of which is adapted to fit the contour of the head.

Letterbox Support Saves Them From Leaving Wagon.

A man in Alabama has earned the gratitude of the postmen of the rural free delivery system by inventing a letterbox support which obviates the necessity of their leaving their wagons at every house. This not only saves the postman an hour or two a day and a great deal of trouble, but enables him to cover a larger territory. The contrivance is simply a letterbox mounted on a pair of jacking levers, the other end of which is to be fastened

NO BOTTLE TO MAKE.

By placing this tube in the hair and pushing the bulb, the tonic or perfume or whatever the contents may be, is sprayed through the hair and over the scalp in such a way as to reach every point. Nor is there the usual annoyance of the tonic or perfume dripping from the hair. The tube is attached to the head by a small ring, the end of which is adapted to fit the contour of the head and which is equipped with perforations.
